

Real Questions

People Ask

How can a loving God allow suffering?

The Big Question

The Logical Problem

God is good

The Logical Problem

God is good

God is great

The Logical Problem

God is good

God is great

Evil is real

The Logical Problem

God is good

God is great

Evil is real

If God is good (wants our best) and God is great (can do anything),
then why doesn't He destroy evil?

What are the possibilities?

→ Deny God's existence

What are the possibilities?

- Deny God's existence
- Diminish God's greatness

What are the possibilities?

- Deny God's existence
- Diminish God's greatness
- Diminish God's goodness

What are the possibilities?

- Deny God's existence
- Diminish God's greatness
- Diminish God's goodness

If these aren't valid, then what is the explanation?

Some Light in the Fog

Some Light in the Fog

Some Light in the Fog

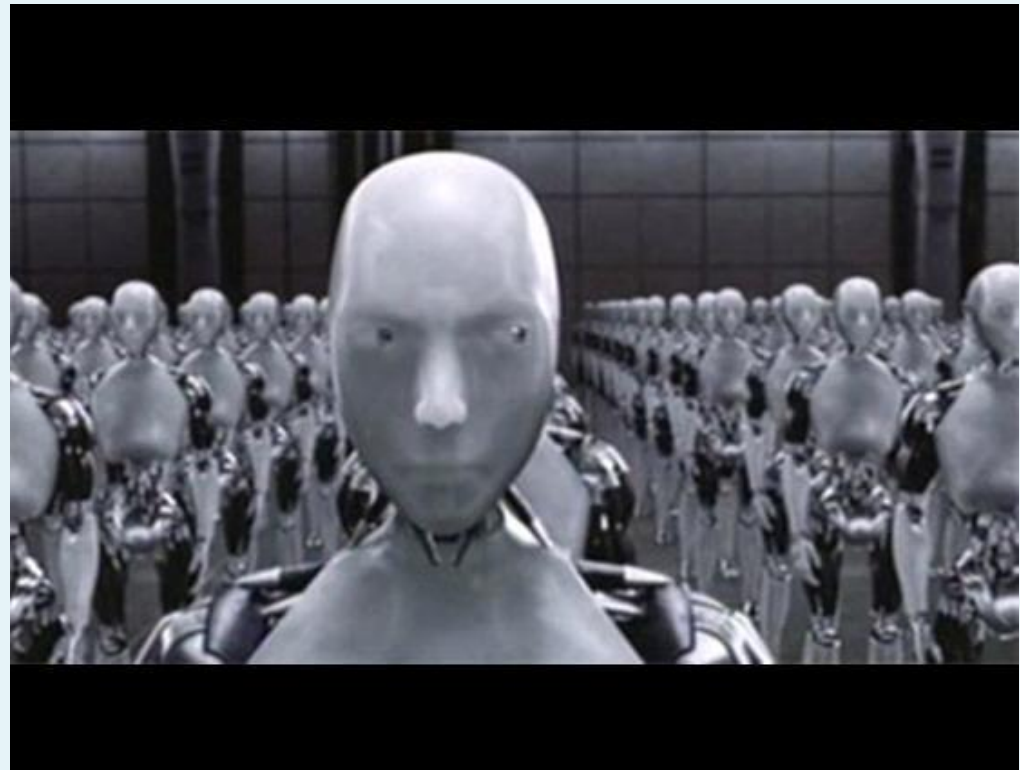

1. Things are just as Jesus predicted

Some Light in the Fog

1. Things are just as Jesus predicted
2. Evil was not created by God

Some Light in the Fog

1. Things are just as Jesus predicted
2. Evil was not created by God

Some Light in the Fog

1. Things are just as Jesus predicted
2. Evil was not created by God
3. We live in a fallen world

Some Light in the Fog

1. Things are just as Jesus predicted
2. Evil was not created by God
3. We live in a fallen world
4. God will eventually judge

Some Light in the Fog

1. Things are just as Jesus predicted
2. Evil was not created by God
3. We live in a fallen world
4. God will eventually judge
5. God suffered too

Some Light in the Fog

1. Things are just as Jesus predicted
2. Evil was not created by God
3. We live in a fallen world
4. God will eventually judge
5. God suffered too
6. God can bring good from bad

What are those “good things”?

God can:

1. Direct us

What are those “good things”?

God can:

1. Direct us
2. Inspect us

What are those “good things”?

God can:

1. Direct us
2. Inspect us
3. Connect us

What are those “good things”?

God can:

1. Direct us
2. Inspect us
3. Connect us
4. Protect us

What are those “good things”?

God can:

1. Direct us
2. Inspect us
3. Connect us
4. Protect us
5. Perfect us

How do I answer the question?

How do I answer the question?

